Dear
En.com.sg Team:

ICANN in Singapore the same have office, if you need not to deference by ICANN regulations not urgent to argue!

And please to see the attachments or <https://verifiedid.sgnic.sg/> at this portal only by as your administrative contact to verify for registrant, so you are wrong again to again!

In the same time, ycec.sg the registrant my data not to change, so you need not to anew to verify, and SGNIC have not power with not have email request me to anew verify, so please did not designedly harass for me!

Dear ZhenMan Lin,

Greetings.

We are sorry that even if you contact ICANN support, they will tell you that they cannot help you with the SG domain name. You will be able to contact them at <https://www.icann.org/resources/pages/customer-support-2015-06-22-en>

We are very sorry that the only way to get SG domain renew is to verify the domain name at SGNIC using the administrative contact's SingPass. Verification request is email to you by SGNIC or you can access the page at <https://verifiedid.sgnic.sg/> to do the verification.

This is a legal requirement and not under our control.

SGNIC can be reached at dnq@sgnic.sg if you want to clarify with them.

Best Regards,
The Customer Care Team

At this portal the administrative contact of a .SG domain name may login to:
 - Verify the identity of the domain name registrant or
 - Enable/Disable "RegistryLock" on the domain name.

Announcement: From 19th April 2020 onwards, domain names registered before 2 May 2013 will be subject to the VerifiedID@SG scheme once the identity or contact information of the registrant is changed. A check on SGNIC WHOIS for the domain name will show that the verification of the domain name is pending ("VerifiedID@SG-Pending"), and cannot be renewed ("Server Renew Prohibited") until the administrative contact completes the verification process. For more information, please visit the VerifiedID@SG FAQ.
